Does it hurt?

The first time it hurts more than any other time. Why, because if you wax regularly you are removing less hair each time. You need to come in on a regular basis, which is every four weeks. This will also help normal breakout diminish over time.

Will the hair grow back thicker, stronger or darker?

Don't bald men wish! When hair is shaved, it is cut off at the thick part of the hair, which is why you can feel stubble the next day. A properly waxed hair is removed by the root and when the hair starts to grow back it is a new hair, very fine at the tip, so no stubble. The only things that stimulate hair growth are hormones, natural or artificial.

How long does the hair have to be?

Three weeks worth of growth, regardless of the body part.

How do I care for the waxed area at home?

You need to use pumice gloves and bath gel for body waxing and a pimple cream for face, back and chest waxing. Use the pimple cream every night until skin clears up and use the bath products starting the next day. The rules for after waxing service are no sun 24 - 48 hours, no hot baths, no abrasives or deodorant for 12 hours.
